

Fabrinox is one of the India's largest integrated Stainless Steel Architectural Engineering companies. Headquartered in Wazirpur Industrial Area, New Delhi India, we conduct business in more than 20 countries. We are engaged in every aspect of the Stainless Steel Architectural Engineering, including innovation and production, manufacturing and marketing. We're also investing in renewable and advanced technologies.

Company Roots

We trace our earliest roots to an 1950 Stainless Steel sheet trading company in New Delhi, which led to the formation of the Dharam Industries and, subsequently, Fabrinox. We took on the name “

brinox

” when we opened up our Stainless Steel Architectural fabrication shop in Kundali Delhi.

Another major branch of the family tree is Fabrinox Cutlery, which was also formed in New Delhi, India, in 1980. Dharam Industries has 2 divisions in Fabrinox, one division deals in Architectural Engineering products and the other deals in Home and Professional Cutlery, in all the company has an experience of about 5 decades in Steel Industry.. The name was introduced in 2005 to convey a clearer, stronger and more unified presence around the world which means Fabrication of stainless steel products.

FABRINOX

In the year 2005 Fabrinox became the first Indian classified 'Group A' supplier to the one and only largest railways which is INDIAN Railways.